Experience

October 2007–Current:

I work part-time with Story Worldwide as a design and production assistant, as well as managing our photo assets. My main responsibility is as part of the team putting out Lexus Magazine, a quarterly editorial magazine for Lexus owners. In addition to the design and production duties, I have been called upon to create illustrations and icons for the magazine as well.

June 2007–Current:

Branding/identity development and web design for small businesses. Working closely with my clients, I have established successful images and basic web pages for their businesses. In this position I work alone and have sole responsibility for the proper completion of the final product.

January 2006–October 2006:

Production manager for the City Collegian, a school and neighborhood paper serving the Capitol Hill neighborhood. Working with a team of one other production manager and a number of editors, we took the content to print under tight deadline while maintaining design integrity and attention to detail.

September 2004–September 2005:

Assistant manager at Jack's Fish Spot, a seafood vendor and restaurant in Pike Place Market. Duties included sales, scheduling, inventory and general administration.

Education

June 2007:

Graduate of Seattle Central Community College Graphic Design Program

1997–2003:

I studied photography and design at Columbia College Chicago.

1995-1997:

Liberal Arts undergraduate at The University of Illinois, Champagne-Urbana

Skills

I am proficient with the Adobe Creative Suite (InDesign, Illustrator, Photoshop, Dreamweaver, Flash, Acrobat, Bridge). I know basic HTML coding and Wordpress customizing. I am an illustrator (mostly pen and ink) as well as an avid photographer.
